Kavanaugh Sworn in at US Supreme Court after Eight-Day Fight

WASHINGTON - Conservative US judge Brett Kavanaugh was confirmed to the Supreme Court by a razor-thin margin in the Senate on Friday, weeks behind his nomination and offering Donald Trump one of his biggest victories of his presidency. Kavanaugh was sworn in as the Senate voted 54-46 in his favor - a remarkably close result given the high court's shift to the right under the Republican leader, who has chosen seven of the nine sitting justices.

Biden, who had vowed to hold up his nomination, was appointed to the Supreme Court in 2018, the latest sign of Beijing's expanding restrictions. (AP)

China Backs Financial Times Hong Kong Editor's Denial

HONG KONG – China has bowed to demands to release its editor in Hong Kong in a case that has drawn concern over the shrinking space for free speech in the Chinese territory. The central government "firmly supports" the local government's rejection of action against editor Victor Mallet, according to a statement from the British foreign office in Hong Kong issued late Saturday.

The Hong Kong government has rejected a visa renewal application for British-based Hong Kong coverage editor Victor Mallet's visa renewal application for British-based Hong Kong coverage editor Victor Mallet, according to a statement from the British foreign office in Hong Kong issued late Saturday. "No foreign country has any right to interfere," the office said, in a response to growing concern from the British foreign secretary and the US and other countries in the territory.

Mallet is vice president of Hong Kong's Foreign Correspondents' Club, which voices concerns to the authorities for housing a talk by the leader of a new-borne pro-Hong Kong independence group on 50 years as part of its 2019 handover from Beijing.
