Pakistan Green Lights Saudi Inclusion in Afghan Peace Talks

KARL - Pakistan and the United States are trying to engage Saudi Arabia to join efforts to resolve the 17-year Afghan conflict through a negotiated peace and reconstruc- tion process, according to officials. During the recent visit of US Special Representative for Afghanistan Reconciliation Zalmay Khalilzad to Islamabad, Pakistani and Amer- ican officials discussed possible peace talks with the Taliban in Afghanistan. The US wants to ensure that the talks remain inclusive.

KARL - In Afghan photog- rapher, Rada Aibar, displayed 50 photos from Afghan girls on an exhibition in Kabul on Thursday to mark the International Day of Girl Child. Aibar said she has taken the photo of the last seven years during her journey to Kabul and a number of other provinces.

JALALABAD - The Independent Election Complaints Commission (IECC) on Thursday denied some Jirga candidates, if found linked to illegal militias, would be removed from the candidate list.

Dr. Ali Reza Rouhani, IECC spokesman and former election commissioner of Jalandar, said the IECC recognised 100 Jirga candidates and disqualified one who is suspected to have links with illegal militias.

Candidates Won't Run Against the Saudis

Candidates who have been in a position to contest the upcoming peace talks in Afghanistan have stated their support for KSA's inclusion in the talks.

Pakistani sources have reported that Saudi Arabia is expected to participate in the upcoming talks in Afghanistan to help resolve the conflict.

Pakistani sources have said that the Saudi government is expected to participate in the upcoming talks in Afghanistan to help resolve the conflict.

The South Asian country has been actively engaged in the Afghan peace process and has been one of the key players in the ongoing negotiations.

KABUL, 31 December: The Independent Election Complaints Commission (IECC) on Thursday denied some Jirga candidates, if found linked to illegal militias, would be removed from the candidate list.

Dr. Ali Reza Rouhani, IECC spokesman and former election commissioner of Jalandar, said the IECC recognised 100 Jirga candidates and disqualified one who is suspected to have links with illegal militias.

Candidates who have been in a position to contest the upcoming peace talks in Afghanistan have stated their support for KSA's inclusion in the talks.

KARL - Pakistan and the United States are trying to engage Saudi Arabia to join efforts to resolve the 17-year Afghan conflict through a negotiated peace and reconstruc- tion process, according to officials. During the recent visit of US Special Representative for Afghanistan Reconciliation Zalmay Khalilzad to Islamabad, Pakistani and Amer- ican officials discussed possible peace talks with the Taliban in Afghanistan. The US wants to ensure that the talks remain inclusive.

KARL - In Afghan photog- rapher, Rada Aibar, displayed 50 photos from Afghan girls on an exhibition in Kabul on Thursday to mark the International Day of Girl Child. Aibar said she has taken the photo of the last seven years during her journey to Kabul and a number of other provinces.

JALALABAD - The Independent Election Complaints Commission (IECC) on Thursday denied some Jirga candidates, if found linked to illegal militias, would be removed from the candidate list.

Dr. Ali Reza Rouhani, IECC spokesman and former election commissioner of Jalandar, said the IECC recognised 100 Jirga candidates and disqualified one who is suspected to have links with illegal militias.

Candidates who have been in a position to contest the upcoming peace talks in Afghanistan have stated their support for KSA's inclusion in the talks.

Pakistani sources have reported that Saudi Arabia is expected to participate in the upcoming talks in Afghanistan to help resolve the conflict.

The South Asian country has been actively engaged in the Afghan peace process and has been one of the key players in the ongoing negotiations.

KABUL, 31 December: The Independent Election Complaints Commission (IECC) on Thursday denied some Jirga candidates, if found linked to illegal militias, would be removed from the candidate list.

Dr. Ali Reza Rouhani, IECC spokesman and former election commissioner of Jalandar, said the IECC recognised 100 Jirga candidates and disqualified one who is suspected to have links with illegal militias.

Candidates who have been in a position to contest the upcoming peace talks in Afghanistan have stated their support for KSA's inclusion in the talks.

KARL - Pakistan and the United States are trying to engage Saudi Arabia to join efforts to resolve the 17-year Afghan conflict through a negotiated peace and reconstruc- tion process, according to officials. During the recent visit of US Special Representative for Afghanistan Reconciliation Zalmay Khalilzad to Islamabad, Pakistani and Amer- ican officials discussed possible peace talks with the Taliban in Afghanistan. The US wants to ensure that the talks remain inclusive.

KARL - In Afghan photog- rapher, Rada Aibar, displayed 50 photos from Afghan girls on an exhibition in Kabul on Thursday to mark the International Day of Girl Child. Aibar said she has taken the photo of the last seven years during her journey to Kabul and a number of other provinces.

JALALABAD - The Independent Election Complaints Commission (IECC) on Thursday denied some Jirga candidates, if found linked to illegal militias, would be removed from the candidate list.

Dr. Ali Reza Rouhani, IECC spokesman and former election commissioner of Jalandar, said the IECC recognised 100 Jirga candidates and disqualified one who is suspected to have links with illegal militias.

Candidates who have been in a position to contest the upcoming peace talks in Afghanistan have stated their support for KSA's inclusion in the talks.

KABUL, 31 December: The Independent Election Complaints Commission (IECC) on Thursday denied some Jirga candidates, if found linked to illegal militias, would be removed from the candidate list.

Dr. Ali Reza Rouhani, IECC spokesman and former election commissioner of Jalandar, said the IECC recognised 100 Jirga candidates and disqualified one who is suspected to have links with illegal militias.

Candidates who have been in a position to contest the upcoming peace talks in Afghanistan have stated their support for KSA's inclusion in the talks.

KARL - Pakistan and the United States are trying to engage Saudi Arabia to join efforts to resolve the 17-year Afghan conflict through a negotiated peace and reconstruc- tion process, according to officials. During the recent visit of US Special Representative for Afghanistan Reconciliation Zalmay Khalilzad to Islamabad, Pakistani and Amer- ican officials discussed possible peace talks with the Taliban in Afghanistan. The US wants to ensure that the talks remain inclusive.

KARL - In Afghan photog- rapher, Rada Aibar, displayed 50 photos from Afghan girls on an exhibition in Kabul on Thursday to mark the International Day of Girl Child. Aibar said she has taken the photo of the last seven years during her journey to Kabul and a number of other provinces.

JALALABAD - The Independent Election Complaints Commission (IECC) on Thursday denied some Jirga candidates, if found linked to illegal militias, would be removed from the candidate list.

Dr. Ali Reza Rouhani, IECC spokesman and former election commissioner of Jalandar, said the IECC recognised 100 Jirga candidates and disqualified one who is suspected to have links with illegal militias.

Candidates who have been in a position to contest the upcoming peace talks in Afghanistan have stated their support for KSA's inclusion in the talks.

KABUL, 31 December: The Independent Election Complaints Commission (IECC) on Thursday denied some Jirga candidates, if found linked to illegal militias, would be removed from the candidate list.

Dr. Ali Reza Rouhani, IECC spokesman and former election commissioner of Jalandar, said the IECC recognised 100 Jirga candidates and disqualified one who is suspected to have links with illegal militias.

Candidates who have been in a position to contest the upcoming peace talks in Afghanistan have stated their support for KSA's inclusion in the talks.

KARL - Pakistan and the United States are trying to engage Saudi Arabia to join efforts to resolve the 17-year Afghan conflict through a negotiated peace and reconstruc- tion process, according to officials. During the recent visit of US Special Representative for Afghanistan Reconciliation Zalmay Khalilzad to Islamabad, Pakistani and Amer- ican officials discussed possible peace talks with the Taliban in Afghanistan. The US wants to ensure that the talks remain inclusive.

KARL - In Afghan photog- rapher, Rada Aibar, displayed 50 photos from Afghan girls on an exhibition in Kabul on Thursday to mark the International Day of Girl Child. Aibar said she has taken the photo of the last seven years during her journey to Kabul and a number of other provinces.

JALALABAD - The Independent Election Complaints Commission (IECC) on Thursday denied some Jirga candidates, if found linked to illegal militias, would be removed from the candidate list.

Dr. Ali Reza Rouhani, IECC spokesman and former election commissioner of Jalandar, said the IECC recognised 100 Jirga candidates and disqualified one who is suspected to have links with illegal militias.

Candidates who have been in a position to contest the upcoming peace talks in Afghanistan have stated their support for KSA's inclusion in the talks.

KABUL, 31 December: The Independent Election Complaints Commission (IECC) on Thursday denied some Jirga candidates, if found linked to illegal militias, would be removed from the candidate list.

Dr. Ali Reza Rouhani, IECC spokesman and former election commissioner of Jalandar, said the IECC recognised 100 Jirga candidates and disqualified one who is suspected to have links with illegal militias.

Candidates who have been in a position to contest the upcoming peace talks in Afghanistan have stated their support for KSA's inclusion in the talks.