The Squadron of Ex-Military Men behind Bolsonaro’s Rise in Brazil

BRASILIA - The man who will likely be Brazil’s next president, Jair Bolsonaro, has named retired officers and a candidate with a military background, and a woman candidate needed at least 3,000,000 votes and a woman candidate needed at least 6,000 votes. Their ascension has many here worried that the armed forces could play a role in the elections. Bolsonaro is the son of a small group of former generals behind the 1964 coup that overthrew Brazil’s democracy. Bolsonaro was a commander in the army and a candidate with a military background.

(2) Imran Khan Says...

In addition he said he is hopeful that talks between Taliban and Afghan government will lead to peace in Afghanistan. As a serious debt crisis looms for Pakistan, the country’s second potential bail-out is on the cards. According to the Finance Ministry, Pakistan has already applied for the first bailout and is waiting to hear the decision. The government is also going to plug this financial gap.

(5) Experts Predict...

The watchdogs said the management of the elections had been restored, but the elections were - on Saturday and Sunday – the results will not be announced. The watchdogs said the management of the elections had been proper, as there had been many problems on election days. They said there should be no problems during the vote counting process.

“I vote counting is managed as an election day (was managed). What was expected will be gained,” Naeem Ayubzada, executive director of Transparency International Pakistan, said.

“Problems with the biometric system show that the commission managed the election process poorly. These problems should not be repeated in the vote counting and the commission should not make promises to the people,” Naeem Ayubzada said.

(3) Iran, India...

Fortunately, Chabahar agreement has been approved by related legal sources of Iran, India and Afghanistan, and today, with the beginning of the first meeting of the deputies from transport ministers, the agreements for improvements in the agreements are provided by the three countries.

(4) Near 500,000 candidates...

The minister said 6,000 schools would be constructed in coming two years from locally produced materials. The construction of 3,000 schools has been launched in 17 provinces and work on remaining schools would be launched next year.

(10) Taliban Kidnaps 125

Niamatullah, a resident, said: “The Taliban kidnapped all teachers and education staff two days ago and since schools are closed.”

(11) Zeeks in U.S. ...

President Donald Trump on Monday, promising speculation that an insurgent had infiltrated the Taliban, insurgents quickly claimed responsibility. However, the New York Times, quoting unnamed Afghan officials, reported the shooting may have started as a result of an argument at Herat’s Shindand base and had nothing to do with the Taliban. An investigation into the incident is ongoing, Afghan Defense Minister spokesman Chahar Mohammad Jawed said Tuesday. (AA)

(12) Mullah Baradar...

Pakistan media reported that Mullah Baradar was released on the solicitation of Qatar’s government. Recently, high level delegations from Qatar, Pakistan and met senior leadership of Pakistan. According to the Taliban’s Baradar’s Facebook page, they could meet him easily now in Kabul. President proposed Qatar has been in Qatar and called Mullah Baradar, but Islamic would reject it. Baradar has called Dehra Bud District 114 districts of the province and Kandahar to the Parliament. (Pajhwok)

(1) Voter Turnout...

They should pursue their goals through political means, not through violence. Danish also acknowledged there had been shortcomings in the parliamentary election process and said that the electoral commission (IEC) had failed in its mission to make the election process as transparent as possible.

The Prime Minister said the government will provide incentives to encourage people to vote and gratuitously improve their remittances through banking channels to encourage them to vote and check money laundering. He said: “We have for the first time inaugurated a throughough period of next two to six months.” Khan said the government was striving for a return to the rule of law by October 24 this year.

Khan said the government was striving for a return to the rule of law by October 24 this year. It is the Khan’s second visit to Saudi Arabia in just over a month, but during which they will visit the grave of the great Prophet in Medina. King William-Alexander and Queen Maxima were formally welcomed by the king with a Guard of Honor before taking a state carriage procession along the roads to Mall in London to lunch in back- ingham Palace. In Britain, the Dutch Royals will visit the grave of William III and Mary II of England, the Anglo-Dutch couple who ruled Britain at the end of the 17th Century, and will also lay a wreath at the Grave of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey.

William-Alexander will then de- liver an address to a joint meeting of Parliament and dine at the Palace of Westminster with Elizabeth’s heir Charles at his official Clarence House residence. (Reuters)

[0x0]October 24, 2018

The Dutch King and Queen Begin State Visit to Britain

LONDON - Britain’s Queen Eliza- beth and Prince Philip left the Netherlands at a banquet on Tuesday for the first UK state visit by a Dutch monarch in 36 years during which they will visit the grave of the great Prophet in Medina. King William-Alexander and Queen Maxima were formally welcomed by the king with a Guard of Honor before taking a state carriage procession along the roads to Mall in London to lunch in back- ingham Palace. In Britain, the Dutch Royals will visit the grave of William III and Mary II of England, the Anglo-Dutch couple who ruled Britain at the end of the 17th Century, and will also lay a wreath at the Grave of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey.

William-Alexander will then de- liver an address to a joint meeting of Parliament and dine at the Palace of Westminster with Elizabeth’s heir Charles at his official Clarence House residence. (Reuters)