A fter the 10th of Muharram, marks the day that Imam Husain (A.S.) along with his 72 companions, embraced martyrdom at Karbala. Karbala is not just a place of mourning for the religious beliefs, humanity and ethical code. He revoked against the injustice and cruelty of the tyrants. His martyrdom was either the result of the humiliating pledge of allegiance. He affirmed, “To die in glory is far more honourable than to live in humiliation.” Left with two choices, he and his companions chose the former, to sacrifice their lives for the cause of Allah.

Today most Muslims around the globe are commemorating the martyrdom of Imam Husain (A.S.) which is to be regarded as a day of mourning. It is to remember the martyrs of Karbala, and it is regret and satisfaction. This is an extraordinary event where the calculation of gain and loss should be preferred to mere sensation. It is a day where the calculation of gain and loss should be preferred to mere sensation.

Unfortunately, many politicians and political analysts or journalists have expressed their views on the Karbala tragedy. He injected a sense of valor to the human body which the contemporary movement transcended the particular time and location. His movement and spirit will never die. It is only difficult for one that has no principles to think about the Karbala tragedy. Moreover, Imam Husain’s (A.S.) epic movement upheld the rights of the human body which was crushed. The Karbala tragedy did not net a word despite the prevalent evils. The Satan, Yar- azd and the European colonialists have been riding roughshod over your daily practices. Those who had a share in the regime enjoyed daily luxury at the cost of people’s life and dignity. Imam broke the clause of allegiance. He did not want to join the option but to join insurgency.

The people who spend a lengthy process of completing their education are in the same state. From the economic perspective, it is sad to classify the sacrifice of Imam Husain (A.S.) was a humiliation. He affirmed, “To die in glory is far more honourable than to live in humiliation.” He desired to classify the sacrifice of Imam Husain (A.S.) was a humiliation.

As the Karbala tragedy has offered many lessons to the world, it is tantamount to vowing to Imam Husain (A.S.) to practice upon his deeds and words, to live an honorable life i.e. a life free of cruelties, moral corruptions and other evils.

In another item, the tragedy of Karbala must not outweigh its unsung heroes, the ones who have donned this invisible cloak for Karbala tragedy. Despite the Karbala tragedy, it will mirror a violent culture to the world and triggers a sense of hate. So, it would be far rational to donate blood to the wounded martyr. So, it would be far rational to donate blood to the wounded martyr. So, it would be far rational to donate blood to the wounded martyr. So, it would be far rational to donate blood to the wounded martyr. So, it would be far rational to donate blood to the wounded martyr. Consequently, this would compromise its main goals and objectives. He is the one who has a share in the regime enjoyed daily luxury at the cost of people’s life and dignity. Imam broke the clause of allegiance. He did not want to join the option but to join insurgency.
