on the expectations of the Trump administration. In his meeting with Tillerson, Prime Minister Narendra Modi underscored the need to take forward the close and strategic partnership between the US and the EU to eradicate terrorism and ensure peace and security and support and strengthen the efforts of the region to achieve a peaceful and prosperous Afghanistan free from terrorism, insurgents, and the extremism of the Taliban, the United States, the United Arab Emirates, and the United Kingdom.

In this meeting, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and President Donald Trump have agreed to strengthen cooperation in the fight against terrorism. The two leaders have conveyed their serious concern over the continued threat to global peace and security by terrorism and related activities in Afghanistan. The two leaders have decided to enhance cooperation on counter-terrorism, to include the sharing of information and intelligence. The two leaders discussed the need to take forward the fight against terrorism and to fully address the threat posed by the Taliban and other terrorist groups in Afghanistan.

In his meeting with Tillerson, Prime Minister Narendra Modi underscored the need to take forward the close and strategic partnership between the US and the EU to eradicate terrorism and ensure peace and security and support and strengthen the efforts of the region to achieve a peaceful and prosperous Afghanistan free from terrorism, insurgents, and the extremism of the Taliban, the United States, the United Arab Emirates, and the United Kingdom.

The two leaders have expressed their deep concern over the continued threat to global peace and security by terrorism and related activities in Afghanistan. The two leaders have decided to enhance cooperation on counter-terrorism, to include the sharing of information and intelligence. The two leaders discussed the need to take forward the fight against terrorism and to fully address the threat posed by the Taliban and other terrorist groups in Afghanistan.