No Pediatrician, Sufficient Beds in Ghor Hospital
FEROZKOH – A number of residents of western Ghor province complain about lack of pediatricians, beds and attention from doctors in the Civil Hospital.

KABUL - "The issue of peace has turned breathtaking. Despite nine months of efforts by the international community, there is no clear result until the moment," VP Danish said while speaking at an election campaign in Kabul today.

Danesh emphasized that holding of the Afghan presidential election is a red line for the government.

“If we don’t organize the election, the country will move toward a crisis and even we will not reach to peace,” he said.

VP Danish further said that the announcement of a ceasefire and direct talks with the government are huge challenges in peace talks which are not finalized yet. The State-Building team led by President Ashraf Ghani has repeatedly emphasized that direct elections and the Republic system are non-negotiable for the government. However, the Taliban insurgent group has repeatedly refused to sit with the Afghan government. (ATN)

Ministry, Plans New Mechanism To Boost Transportation System

KABUL – The Ministry of Transportation on Sunday announced the creation of a mechanism titled “project management system” based on which the ministry will jointly undertake the management of road construction projects with the public in the future.

Acting Minister of Transportation, Yama Yari, said the mechanism will help the employees of the ministry to prevent violations and other shortcomings in road construction projects.

He said that rising security threats is the key factor which has undermined the implementation of road construction projects in the country.

Mr. Yari said the new mechanism will also help to ensure the good quality of the projects.

“This will ensure timeliness implementation of the work and other working plans related to the projects. We are undertaking at least ten types of working plans which include operational plans, technical plans, maintenance plan, plan for the safety of the staff members,” said Sayed Shah Aqa, head of the department for development and policy, Ministry of Transportation, Kabul.

In Tentative Rollout, Afghanistan Begins Distribution of Electronic Driving License

KABUL – The Ministry of Transportation of Afghanistan has announced that the authorities have begun the tentative distribution of electronic driving licenses.

The authorities are saying that the Ministry of Transport has started the process with the cooperation of Ministry of Telecommunications and Information Technology.

The Ministry of Telecommunications and Information Technology, Ministry of Transport, Kabul Traffic Department and Asan Khedmat Department launched the tentative distribution of electronic driving licenses.

The authorities distributed the first electronic driving licenses to M. Khushdul Hayashi, the acting minister of telecommunications and information technology, Yama Yari, the minister of transport and minister of public works of Afghanistan.

Yama Yari said the distribution of electronic driving license is a good step towards transparency of the processes and the digitalization of driving license will prevent corruption.

Yari further added that the roll out of electronic driving license is part of the reforms the Ministry of Transport is implementing. (KP)

No Pediatrician, Sufficient Beds in Ghor Hospital
FEROZKOH – A number of residents of western Ghor province complain about lack of pediatricians, beds and attention from doctors in the Civil Hospital.

KABUL - "The issue of peace has turned breathtaking. Despite nine months of efforts by the international community, there is no clear result until the moment," VP Danish said while speaking at an election campaign in Kabul today.

Danesh emphasized that holding of the Afghan presidential election is a red line for the government.

“If we don’t organize the election, the country will move toward a crisis and even we will not reach to peace,” he said.

VP Danish further said that the announcement of a ceasefire and direct talks with the government are huge challenges in peace talks which are not finalized yet. The State-Building team led by President Ashraf Ghani has repeatedly emphasized that direct elections and the Republic system are non-negotiable for the government. However, the Taliban insurgent group has repeatedly refused to sit with the Afghan government. (ATN)

Ministry, Plans New Mechanism To Boost Transportation System

KABUL – The Ministry of Transportation on Sunday announced the creation of a mechanism titled “project management system” based on which the ministry will jointly undertake the management of road construction projects with the public in the future.

Acting Minister of Transportation, Yama Yari, said the mechanism will help the employees of the ministry to prevent violations and other shortcomings in road construction projects.

He said that rising security threats is the key factor which has undermined the implementation of road construction projects in the country.

Mr. Yari said the new mechanism will also help to ensure the good quality of the projects.

“This will ensure timeliness implementation of the work and other working plans related to the projects. We are undertaking at least ten types of working plans which include operational plans, technical plans, maintenance plan, plan for the safety of the staff members,” said Sayed Shah Aqa, head of the department for development and policy, Ministry of Transportation, Kabul.

In Tentative Rollout, Afghanistan Begins Distribution of Electronic Driving License

KABUL – The Ministry of Transportation of Afghanistan has announced that the authorities have begun the tentative distribution of electronic driving licenses.

The authorities are saying that the Ministry of Transport has started the process with the cooperation of Ministry of Telecommunications and Information Technology.

The Ministry of Telecommunications and Information Technology, Ministry of Transport, Kabul Traffic Department and Asan Khedmat Department launched the tentative distribution of electronic driving licenses.

The authorities distributed the first electronic driving licenses to M. Khushdul Hayashi, the acting minister of telecommunications and information technology, Yama Yari, the minister of transport and minister of public works of Afghanistan.

Yama Yari said the distribution of electronic driving license is a good step towards transparency of the processes and the digitalization of driving license will prevent corruption.

Yari further added that the roll out of electronic driving license is part of the reforms the Ministry of Transport is implementing. (KP)