The Taliban victory in some districts of Afghanistan provinces and their provincial capitals and districts has caused the local residents to fear of the loss of peace. Known as the “graveyard of empires,” many outside observers have warned that the situation in Afghanistan will remain under the control of the Taliban and the field commanders. The Taliban government will not continue to protect the safety and lives of the civilians and the local population.

We will stand strong with them and our friends in Afghanistan as it faces this crucial hour. We will continue our support and promote the killing of Afghan commanders and their subordinates. We have already commenced our military operations and will continue to support them.

The Taliban claim they have a large number of insurgents and have once again shown that they are willing to continue their operations in the country. They have provided evidence of this in an attack on our forces in a recent operation. We have also provided evidence of this in the recent operations in which we have captured a number of Taliban commanders and their subordinates.

The Taliban government is facing immense pressure from the international community and the Afghan people. They are demanding an end to the war and the Taliban to enter into talks with the government. The Taliban have also made clear that they are willing to continue their military operations in the country.

We will continue to support them and our friends in Afghanistan as it faces this crucial hour. We will continue our support and promote the killing of Afghan commanders and their subordinates. We have already commenced our military operations and will continue to support them.
