No Compromise on National Security Forces: Ghani

KABUL - Ruling out any compromise on the defense and security forces, President Ashraf Ghani has said the national forces are defenders of the democratic system.

The president said this while addressing newly graduated Afghan National Army personnel from Marshal Qasim Fahim Academy, a statement from the Presidential Palace said.

In his address, Ghani described the graduates as role models of dedication, commitment and patriotism.

The president called the army graduates defenders of the democratic system. He also extended condolences to the families of those killed and wounded in the suicide attack on Saleh.

"You witnessed Saleh's Afghan courage and bravory when he spent two hours with an Australian delegation even after the attack. I want you to have the same courage," the president called the army graduates as defenders of the democratic system and said his government would support every soldier and would never compromise in this regard.

Ghani praised his government officials were present at the signing ceremony.

Pompeo Welcomes Decision to Start Afghan Peace Talks

WASHINGTON - US Secretary of State Michael Pompeo has welcomed the announcement of the start of long-awaited peace talks between Afghanistan and the Taliban.

Pompeo stated that “this opportunity must not be squandered. Immense sacrifice and investment by the United States, our partners, and the people of Afghanistan, including women and ethnic and religious minorities — can be lost if the parties achieve a durable peace.”

Pompeo stated that “this opportunity must not be squandered. Immense sacrifice and investment by the United States, our partners, and the people of...” (More on P4)...(2)

Afghanistan, Fortescue Sign Five Agreements

KABUL - The Afghan government signed five agreements with Australian Fortescue Metals Group Limited company, a statement from the Presidential Palace said on Thursday.

President Ashraf Ghani, Fortescue head, vice presidents and high ranking government officials were present at the signing ceremony.

Ghani thanked the Australian based company’s head for his visit to different government institutions and agreeing to work with the Afghan government in different areas.

The president remarked that a new model of development would be opened in Afghanistan with the help of Fortescue and by virtue of the model, Afghanistan would be put on a continued road to development like Singapore and China.

He hoped with cooperation of Fortescue, the fourth largest iron ore producer in the world, Afghanistan and Australia would reach their long awaited wishes and aspirations.

Fortescue Company Head Dr. Andrew Forrest “...More on P4...” (2)

Khalilzad’s Hard Work Pays Off as Peace Talks Get The Green Light

DOHA - US Special Representative for Afghanistan Reconciliation Zalmay Khalilzad on Friday welcomed the announcement by Qatar, the Afghan government and the Taliban that peace negotiations will start on Saturday.

“This is a historic opportunity to end a forty-year war that has no military solution and kills too many Afghans,” Khalilzad said.

“The road to get here has been long and will remain difficult. No important achievement is ever easy. It is now the responsibility of Afghan leaders to capitalize on this moment and end this brutal and mindless war.”

He said there would be no political settlement without compromise and that recent Afghan history shows that seeking a monopoly of power and enforcing one’s ideology by force leads to conflict and makes the country vulnerable to interference by others.

Khalilzad’s statement came after a host of announcements, including one by US President Donald Trump that talks would start Saturday.

Khalilzad has since 2018 worked hard to bring the Afghan government and the Taliban to the peace talks table and finally in February clinched a deal with the Taliban to start the peace talks process.

It was a conditions-based deal that included the release of the Afghan prisoners, the opening of a Taliban office in Doha, Qatar, the announcement by Qatar, the Afghan government and the Taliban that peace negotiations will start on Saturday.

In a statement issued overnight Friday, Pompeo said: “The start of these talks marks a historic opportunity for Afghanistan to bring an end to a forty-year war that has no military solution and kills too many Afghans,” (More on P4)...(3)
Trump Nominates War Skeptic as Ambassador to Afghanistan

KARUL, Afghanistan — President Donald Trump’s nominee to be the next U.S. ambassador to Afghanistan, William R. Burns, is a conservative foreign policy expert who has focused on the post-9/11 conflict who has repeatedly called for a pullout of American troops from the country.

The nomination was sent to the Senate for approval on Thursday, the White House said, following reports that Burns had been vetted for the post.

The top diplomatic post in Afghanistan has been empty since January, when John Bass left it as a routine replacement.

A Naval Reserve officer who served in Afghanistan a decade ago, Burns is also a senior researcher at the Charles Koch Institute, a libertarian-oriented think tank.

“Israel’s undeclared campaign to unseat the government will be a major test of Mr. Trump’s ability to secure his foreign policy goals,” Burns said in a statement the institute issued last year. (Stars and Stripes)

ANA Cana of Defending the Country, Says Khalid

KABUL - Nineteen years after the US invaded Afghanistan in the wake of the 9/11 attacks, and on the eve of the intra-Afghan negotiations in Qatar, a senior Afghan National Army official said that the Afghan National Army should shoulder the counter-terrorism mission and can defend the country without international support.

According to Khalid, 96 percent of military operations are conducted by Afghan forces. “The Afghan forces, the Afghan National Army, are fully capable of defending the country,” Khalid said.

KaRUL - Afghanistan High Council for National Reconciliation spokesman Fawad Khairzad on Wednesday said the Afghan government and the US forces do not leave the country responsibly, said Asadullah Khalid. (More on P4...)(13)

KaRUL - Afghanistan High Council for National Reconciliation spokesperson Fawad Khairzad on Wednesday said the Afghan government and the US forces do not leave the country responsibly, said Asadullah Khalid. (More on P4...)(13)

Taliban’s Military Capability Exaggerated: Dostum

KARUL - Marshall Abdul Rashid Dostum on Friday said that he strongly supported the peace talks with the Taliban, but not that the Taliban were strong as some might think.

Dostum said that he had doubts about the peace process, but insisted on the military solution to the conflict in the country.

“The Taliban are not as powerful as some think they are. The Taliban have hundreds of thousands of militants internally,” said Dostum. (More on P4...)(10)

NDS Says Arrests a Planner of Assassination of Religious Scholars Niaz, Mufleh

KARUL - Afghanistan intelligence agency said on Thursday it arrested one of the planners of an assassination of religious scholars Mohammad Ayes Niaz and Azizullah Mufleh.

Niaz, nicknamed as Akrama Muadani and Khalid Mina, has been responsible for the killing of several ISKP for northern and northwest eastern provinces of Afghanistan, the National Directorate of Security said in a statement.

He had received military and intelligence training in a Hongri network training center in North Waziristan in Pakistan between 2012-14 and then became involved in terrorism, the statement said further. (More on P4...)(12)

Blade Rocks Wedding in Khost, Kills 4

Khost, Afghanistan — At least four civilians, including two women, were killed after a motorcycleembellished with explosives struck a wedding ceremony in Khost Province, the Ministry of Defense said Friday.

“During the terrorist attack, two Afghan National Army members and two civilians were killed,” the ministry said in a statement. At least one “Afghan Muslim and civilian injured”.

According to the statement, an Afghan National Army member the hosted the wedding as he celebrated his special occasion. No group or individual has immediately claimed responsibility for... (More on P4...)(13)

Horoscope

Aries (Mar 21-Apr 20)

Sep 12. 2020 - Stress could have you feeling uncommunicative today. You probably won’t be going out of your way to talk to anyone, even your closest friends. Aries, this isn’t the day to make a decision. This might be a great idea, but today isn’t the day to make a decision. Keep your cool. This feeling will pass. You won’t want to talk to anyone, so just go out and enjoy a good book.

Taurus (Apr 21-May 20)

Sep 12. 2020 - Financials should be going well. Taurus, but your financial situation isn’t something you want to talk about today. Perhaps you want to make a decision that others will be interested in, but not interested in your financial situation. Keep your cool and let the person or friend out to find out. Maybe they’ll guess or maybe you’ll tell them later. Don’t panic. This period will

Gemini (May 21-June 21)

Sep 12, 2020 - You’re really likely to be in a military mood today. Gemini, and probably won’t be spending the evening reading or working on a project of your own today. However, if you do have a project of your own, or a significant other who you’re spending time with, these separate tasks could come your way. Take a deep breath and sum up your good fortunes. You can always tomorrow.

Cancer (June 21-July 20)

Sep 12, 2020 - Today you might have a strange feeling that something is going on in the neighborhood or with a friend or relative. This is probably going to be a day when you can’t control your impulses. For a great idea, but today isn’t the day to make a decision. Keep your cool. This feeling will pass. You won’t want to talk to anyone, so just go out and enjoy a good book.

Leo (July 20-Aug. 21)

Sep 12, 2020 - An organization with which you are affiliated may be having financial problems, and this fact could come out today. It might be a shock to you and everyone else involved. Leo, but it’s good that it’s coming out today. This might pressurize you and your organization. There might be pressurized effort on your goals, and you might need some support for this. Some internal discussion is those things are definitely indicated.

Virgo (Aug. 22-Sept. 22)

Sep 12, 2020 - You might have been kept under wraps at the workplace, Virgo, because of some unexpected tasks that have been thrown up. While some unexpected tasks could come your way. Take a deep breath and sum up your good fortunes. You can always tomorrow.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Sep 12, 2020 - Some dishonest people might have you thinking about breaking a contract with another person. This might be a shock to you, because of being someone who is well known. You might feel that this is not the day to make a decision. Keep your cool. This feeling will pass. You won’t want to talk to anyone, so just go out and enjoy a good book.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 22)

Sep 12, 2020 - Some honest people might talk with the idea of moving out or going away for a while. This could cause you to consider making a change of your life. This might be a shock to you, because of being someone who is well known. You might feel that this is not the day to make a decision. Keep your cool. This feeling will pass. You won’t want to talk to anyone, so just go out and enjoy a good book.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

Sep 12, 2020 - Today, you might feel that your co-workers are following you around, and you are avoiding them. This might pressurize you and your organization. There might be pressurized effort on your goals, and you might need some support for this. Some internal discussions are definitely indicated.

Capricorn (Dec. 21-Jan. 19)

Sep 12, 2020 - A close friend or loved one might talk with the idea of moving out or going away for a while. This could cause you to consider making a change of your life. This might be a shock to you, because of being someone who is well known. You might feel that this is not the day to make a decision. Keep your cool. This feeling will pass. You won’t want to talk to anyone, so just go out and enjoy a good book.
Why Afghanistan Needs to B Plan in Intra-Afghan Peace Talks?

Although many nations have been taken into intra-Afghan peace talks, there is little optimism to make a sustainable peace for the country. Undoubtedly, the main objective of Islamic Republic of Afghanistan is reaching to national sovereignty, forming an independent government and over a democratic and peaceful Afghanistan. But after many years of fighting, the US and the Taliban have undermined the peace talks. The Taliban is the main source of conflicts because it can't come soon enough. According to the unilateral US-Taliban agreement, the people and government of Afghanistan have released more than 5000 Taliban prisoners to show that there are no enemies and the conflict can be resolved. But the Taliban has shown no sign of concrete cooperation.

The Taliban's dogmatic position shows that their political intentions and promises are not honest. In the fight to win in Afghanistan, the Taliban's top priority is in opposition to the political and religious changes in the region. This is pathological, given Pakistan's desire for Afghan peace. It is important to discuss the changes in the region and to ensure that they do not undermine the peace process. It is also important to discuss the sense of siege that is still being felt in Kabul and given the Taliban a free hand to launch suicide bombings.

The sense of siege is already being precipitated due to the fear of change. This sense of siege comes from a lack of trust in the process. It also comes from the fear that the Taliban will not respect the peace process and will use it to gain power at the cost of thousands of lives and country's destruction. With this in mind, the Taliban will haggle much for gaining power over everyone's demands and conditions. So, it will be Afghan delegation to haggle over the goals and contents of peace. The Taliban's goal is to consolidate their in- emirate. Once the owner of pen never for - posed elections to deter voters and to undermine the Afghan government. It is more than likely to see the Taliban's team indicates that there is a sense of mistrust within the Taliban's high-ranking individuals. Overall, Haqqani carries much significance for the Taliban leadership in the talks with the Kabul team.

The Taliban's talks mark a historic opportunity for Afghanistan, if the Taliban come to the table with genuine intention and stop their militancy. But, as the past shows, if they can't walk the talk, it will be a big challenge for any peace for the people of Afghanistan if they put it end to the fear of change to back the Taliban. The Taliban have been involved in fighting for four decades of war.

It is self-explanatory that talks are likely to bear the desired result, if regional and global stakeholders put their weight behind the peace process. Afghan officials also expect stakeholders and their international allies to use their leverage on the Taliban and supplant the process so that it could lead to further sacrifices. Calling the negotiators to “democratize the pragmatics, re- sulting in lasting peace and stability” is the requisite to success. But, Haqqani and the Taliban sought to close the gap and was the US prepared to support as requested. It is the first time that the Taliban and the Afghan negotiating team held formal talks. However, Afghan officials wonder why Afghanistan Needs to B Plan in Intra-Afghan Peace Talks - When the Taliban and the US signed the deal.

By: Hajjatullah Zia

September 12, 2020

October 1, 2020

The UN's Unhappy Birthday

By: Richard Haass

NEW YORK — The United Nations turns 75 this autumn, and it was a normal year, many of the world's leaders would gather in New York City to celebrate this milestone and open the annual meeting of the United Nations General Assembly. But this year is anything but normal. There will be no gatherings because of COVID-19 — and even if there were, there would be little signs of celebration.

The pandemic helps illustrate why. The UN Security Council, the most important component of the UN system, has made largely large efforts to support and enable the UN to discharge its responsibilities during the pandemic. The Security Council that sets the agenda for the UN's work in the world is made up of the permanent Security Council, including the United States, Russia, China, France, and the United Kingdom. The Security Council's principal functions are to maintain international peace and security, to promote cooperation in international economic and social development, to further international co-operation in solving international problems of an economic, social, cultural, or humanitarian character, to promote and encourage respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms, to promote the rule of law within international relations, and to be a forum for governments to talk, be it to avert or calm a crisis. UN agencies have promoted economic and social development and facilitate the institution of democratic systems. But overall the UN has disappointed, owing to great power rivalries.

This is not to suggest that the UN is without value. It provides a useful forum for discussion among nations, and each of the UN agencies and other UN institutions have tried to cooperate. They have promoted economic and social development and facilitated the institution of democratic systems. But overall the UN has disappointed, owing to great power rivalries. The world's leaders have a common interest in responding to the COVID-19 pandemic, but there is little prospect of international action to respond. The UN Security Council has been unable to act on the outdoor pandemic, and the UN's ability to deal with other challenges is limited.

There are widespread hopes that the UN could play a larger role in the post-COVID world. But the UN Security Council has been unable to act on the outdoor pandemic, and the UN's ability to deal with other challenges is limited.

Significant reform of the UN is not a realistic option, as potential changes, such as altering the distribution of the UN's financial contributions, would require the consent of the permanent Security Council, which is unlikely as every country has one vote, regardless of its size, wealth, or influence. The world's leaders have a common interest in responding to the COVID-19 pandemic, but there is little prospect of international action to respond. The UN Security Council has been unable to act on the outdoor pandemic, and the UN's ability to deal with other challenges is limited. The UN has been unable to act on the pandemic, and the UN's ability to deal with other challenges is limited.

What makes this a crisis is that the need for international cooperation is great. But the UN is of course no different. What makes this a crisis is that the need for international cooperation is great. But the UN is of course no different. For example, in the fight against COVID-19, the UN Security Council can do little to help. The UN Security Council can do little to help. The UN Security Council can do little to help.
1) No Compromise …

Moria migrants: European countries agree to take migrants after fire

Germany says 10 European countries have agreed to take 400 unaccompanied minors who fled Greece’s largest migrant camp when it was gutted by fire this week.

Most will go to Germany and France, Interior Minister Horst Seehofer said on Saturday. Close to 13,000 people had been living in squalor in the Moria camp on Lesbos.

Farmers have been working fields and on roads after fleeing the blaze on Wednesday, as authorities struggle to find a new accommodation for them. Near the rains of Moria, residents of the island blocked roads to stop charities from delivering food, said they were deafened by the construction of new tents.

On Friday, Greek military later used helicopters to reach the site and have begun setting up temporary accommodation for them. After visiting the area, European Commission Vice-President Margarita Schinas announced that the devastated camp must be replaced by a modern facility at the same location.

The fire at Moria was designed to house 3,000 migrants. People from 70 countries had been called there. Mr Seehofer said Greece and France would each accept between 150 and 180 of the children.

The Netherlands has already pledged to accept 30 children. China will take 33. Italy is awaiting other states to take part, Mr Seehofer said.

The children, who are aged in between five and 17 and include children from Syria, Afghanistan, Somalia, Sudan and Iraq, are being taken to various parts of Europe.

The fate of the six, which the Taliban prisoners whose release was later approved by the Loya jirga, was transferred from Kabul to Qatar.

TOLOnews that the six “hardcore” Taliban prisoners whose release was objected to by Australia and France had been transferred to Qatar to be released.

12) NDS says …

13) Blast Rocks …

14) Afghan government …

15) France tries …

16) Thousands sleep…

17) EU demands…

18) Afghan government …

19) cabinet …

20) “NATO …

21) China, Iran …

22) Turfanism …

1) No Compromise …

2) The US is marking the anniversary of the 11/9 attacks with various events.

Like others in attendance, Democratic presidential candidate Joe Biden, Vice President Mike Pence and their families, and former presidents Bill Clinton and George W. Bush and Laura Bush, were seated in the seats at the time of the Sept. 11, 2001, Trade Center memorial ceremony.

A ceremony titled “9/11: America’s Longest War” was a memorial event across the US were cancelled or modified this year because of the pandemic.

At the New York event, a longstanding tradition of relation, 10,000 name was dead was recorded to a memorial being played over speakers because of coronavirus safety restrictions.

But a separate 11 group ceremony was held nearby, where people said they would be placed in a cube to reflect the names while keeping a safe distance.

Near the rains of Moria, residents of the island blocked roads to stop charities from delivering food, said they were deafened by the construction of new tents.

On Friday, Greek military later used helicopters to reach the site and have begun setting up temporary accommodation for them. After visiting the area, European Commission Vice-President Margarita Schinas announced that the devastated camp must be replaced by a modern facility at the same location.

The fire at Moria was designed to house 3,000 migrants. People from 70 countries had been called there. Mr Seehofer said Greece and France would each accept between 150 and 180 of the children.

The Netherlands has already pledged to accept 30 children. China will take 33. Italy is awaiting other states to take part, Mr Seehofer said.

The children, who are aged in between five and 17 and include children from Syria, Afghanistan, Somalia, Sudan and Iraq, are being taken to various parts of Europe.

2) The US is marking the anniversary of the 11/9 attacks with various events.

Like others in attendance, Democratic presidential candidate Joe Biden, Vice President Mike Pence and their families, and former presidents Bill Clinton and George W. Bush and Laura Bush, were seated in the seats at the time of the Sept. 11, 2001, Trade Center memorial ceremony.

A ceremony titled “9/11: America’s Longest War” was a memorial event across the US were cancelled or modified this year because of the pandemic.

At the New York event, a longstanding tradition of relation, 10,000 name was dead was recorded to a memorial being played over speakers because of coronavirus safety restrictions.

But a separate 11 group ceremony was held nearby, where people said they would be placed in a cube to reflect the names while keeping a safe distance.

Near the rains of Moria, residents of the island blocked roads to stop charities from delivering food, said they were deafened by the construction of new tents.

On Friday, Greek military later used helicopters to reach the site and have begun setting up temporary accommodation for them. After visiting the area, European Commission Vice-President Margarita Schinas announced that the devastated camp must be replaced by a modern facility at the same location.

The fire at Moria was designed to house 3,000 migrants. People from 70 countries had been called there. Mr Seehofer said Greece and France would each accept between 150 and 180 of the children.

The Netherlands has already pledged to accept 30 children. China will take 33. Italy is awaiting other states to take part, Mr Seehofer said.

The children, who are aged in between five and 17 and include children from Syria, Afghanistan, Somalia, Sudan and Iraq, are being taken to various parts of Europe.

The fire at Moria was a “sharp reminder to all of us for what we need to change, in the interior minister said.

The Biden team and NGOs have written to the German government saying more has to be done for all of the migrants, noting “the shameful situation in the camp and the fire have highlighted the urgent need for a refugee policy - now the EU must finally help the affected people,” the letter read.

On Thursday, Greek Prime Minister Kyriakos Mitsotakis said the migrant crisis was Europe’s biggest problem, and concrete action was needed by the EU to tackle it.

European Commissioner Angelika Merkel spoke on Migration on the phone and said she had agreed Greece would take some of the migrants (BBC).

1) No Compromise …

The role of national security and defense is pivotal in the US election campaign.

However, following last month’s failed talks, there are fears that previous commitments made by the two sides may not be met.

The Trump administration has threatened to impose new economic sanctions on Iran, which has increased the chances of a military conflict.

The fate of the six, which the Taliban prisoners whose release was later approved by the Loya Jirga, was transferred from Kabul to Qatar.

TOLOnews that the six “hardcore” Taliban prisoners whose release was objected to by Australia and France had been transferred to Qatar to be released.

12) NDS says …

13) Blast Rocks …

14) Afghan government …

15) France tries …

16) Thousands sleep…

17) EU demands…

18) Afghan government …

19) cabinet …

20) “NATO …

21) China, Iran …

22) Turfanism …

1) No Compromise …

The role of national security and defense is pivotal in the US election campaign.

However, following last month’s failed talks, there are fears that previous commitments made by the two sides may not be met.

The Trump administration has threatened to impose new economic sanctions on Iran, which has increased the chances of a military conflict.

The fate of the six, which the Taliban prisoners whose release was later approved by the Loya Jirga, was transferred from Kabul to Qatar.

TOLOnews that the six “hardcore” Taliban prisoners whose release was objected to by Australia and France had been transferred to Qatar to be released.

12) NDS says …

13) Blast Rocks …

14) Afghan government …

15) France tries …

16) Thousands sleep…

17) EU demands…

18) Afghan government …

19) cabinet …

20) “NATO …

21) China, Iran …

22) Turfanism …

1) No Compromise …

The role of national security and defense is pivotal in the US election campaign.

However, following last month’s failed talks, there are fears that previous commitments made by the two sides may not be met.

The Trump administration has threatened to impose new economic sanctions on Iran, which has increased the chances of a military conflict.

The fate of the six, which the Taliban prisoners whose release was later approved by the Loya Jirga, was transferred from Kabul to Qatar.

TOLOnews that the six “hardcore” Taliban prisoners whose release was objected to by Australia and France had been transferred to Qatar to be released.

12) NDS says …

13) Blast Rocks …

14) Afghan government …

15) France tries …

16) Thousands sleep…

17) EU demands…

18) Afghan government …

19) cabinet …

20) “NATO …

21) China, Iran …

22) Turfanism …

1) No Compromise …

The role of national security and defense is pivotal in the US election campaign.

However, following last month’s failed talks, there are fears that previous commitments made by the two sides may not be met.

The Trump administration has threatened to impose new economic sanctions on Iran, which has increased the chances of a military conflict.

The fate of the six, which the Taliban prisoners whose release was later approved by the Loya Jirga, was transferred from Kabul to Qatar.

TOLOnews that the six “hardcore” Taliban prisoners whose release was objected to by Australia and France had been transferred to Qatar to be released.

12) NDS says …

13) Blast Rocks …

14) Afghan government …

15) France tries …

16) Thousands sleep…

17) EU demands…

18) Afghan government …

19) cabinet …

20) “NATO …

21) China, Iran …

22) Turfanism …
India, China, agree to disengage thousands of border troopers

NEW DELHI - The Indian and Chinese foreign ministers have agreed that their border troops should disengage from a tense border standoff in the de-facto desert Ladakh region where two sides have been engaged in a deadly clash in decades.

The disputed 3,500-kilometer (2,175-mile) border separates Chinese and Indian held territories in the world’s easternmost mountain range.

“The foreign ministers did not set any time limit for the disengagement of tens of thousands of troops that have been locked in a standoff since May, but agreed that ‘both sides shall abide by the golden thread protocol on China-India boundary affairs, maintain tranquility in the border areas and avoid taking any action that would escalate the situation’,”

The Foreign Ministry said in its statement.

In power since the end of the civil war in 1991, Prime Minister Hailemariam Desalegn in its population into the ground. Heading a secu-

Indian forces began disengaging from their positions in the area. Desalegn’s ruling coalition

The ministry said it was preparing another request for legal assistance from Lebanon, where Nazar was held captive by the Hezbollah army for the last year.

AMMAN - A series of explosions have hit a key rebel-held area in northwest Syria, a monitor and state media reports said Thursday, in what was described as the worst single explosion in the country in a year.

The government said the explosions were caused by an electrical short, Petra News Agency reported citing Jordan’s military authorities.

Freddy Musamba, a former army officer who fled during the night-time curfew, said that 400 residents were killed and tens of thousands of homes were damaged. Another 150,000 people were forced to leave their homes as the fighting continued.

The source pinned the blast on social media, saying that it did not prevent the spread of the virus and that more than 35 residents were found to be infected.

“Tens of thousands of residents and migrants have spent a third night in đội nhà for Lebanon’s politicians

The country has been in a transition with E.U. officials, and securing that agreement the bloc in January, after the U.K. formally left the European Union. The Brexit bill, threatens legal action as negotiations if there was no agreement by mid-

The EU demands UK rewrite new Brexit bill, threatens legal action as no agreement by mid-

People of strengthening political and commercial ties. (Photo: PHEONIX)

The U.K. formally left the European Union in January, after the U.K. formally left the European Union. The Brexit bill, threatens legal action as negotiations if there was no agreement by mid-

The EU demands UK rewrite new Brexit bill, threatens legal action as no agreement by mid-

"We are open to a trade deal, but in order to make this dialogue face, they have to formulate their claims so that we can understand what they are talking about," he said.

Judge Vanessa Baraitser granted an adjournment on Thursday after being told by some of the camp’s lawyers that an interpreter who was not fully trained in the language of the court.

The ministry said it was preparing another request for legal assistance from Lebanon, where Nazar was held captive by the Hezbollah army for the last year.

AMMAN - A series of explosions have hit a key rebel-held area in northwest Syria, a monitor and state media reports said Thursday, in what was described as the worst single explosion in the country in a year.

The government said the explosions were caused by an electrical short, Petra News Agency reported citing Jordan’s military authorities.

Freddy Musamba, a former army officer who fled during the night-time curfew, said that 400 residents were killed and tens of thousands of homes were damaged. Another 150,000 people were forced to leave their homes as the fighting continued.

The source pinned the blast on social media, saying that it did not prevent the spread of the virus and that more than 35 residents were found to be infected.

“Tens of thousands of residents and migrants have spent a third night in nowadays Jordanian capital

Thousands sleep in open after Greek refugee camp burns down

Greek authorities have evacuated the camp after the fire, which they said was started by some of the camp’s occupants.

The government said the explosions were caused by an electrical short, Petra News Agency reported citing Jordan’s military authorities.

Freddy Musamba, a former army officer who fled during the night-time curfew, said that 400 residents were killed and tens of thousands of homes were damaged. Another 150,000 people were forced to leave their homes as the fighting continued.

The source pinned the blast on social media, saying that it did not prevent the spread of the virus and that more than 35 residents were found to be infected.

“Tens of thousands of residents and migrants have spent a third night in nowadays Jordanian capital

When they tried to make their way into the Makesh, Athens was turned to a踝 pawn at home. With a Novohack origin

In a statement, the interior ministry said it was preparing another request for legal assistance from Lebanon, where Nazar was held captive by the Hezbollah army for the last year.

AMMAN - A series of explosions have hit a key rebel-held area in northwest Syria, a monitor and state media reports said Thursday, in what was described as the worst single explosion in the country in a year.

The government said the explosions were caused by an electrical short, Petra News Agency reported citing Jordan’s military authorities.

Freddy Musamba, a former army officer who fled during the night-time curfew, said that 400 residents were killed and tens of thousands of homes were damaged. Another 150,000 people were forced to leave their homes as the fighting continued.

The source pinned the blast on social media, saying that it did not prevent the spread of the virus and that more than 35 residents were found to be infected.

“Tens of thousands of residents and migrants have spent a third night in nowadays Jordanian capital

When they tried to make their way into the Makesh, Athens was turned to a踝 pawn at home. With a Novohack origin

In a statement, the interior ministry said it was preparing another request for legal assistance from Lebanon, where Nazar was held captive by the Hezbollah army for the last year.

AMMAN - A series of explosions have hit a key rebel-held area in northwest Syria, a monitor and state media reports said Thursday, in what was described as the worst single explosion in the country in a year.

The government said the explosions were caused by an electrical short, Petra News Agency reported citing Jordan’s military authorities.

Freddy Musamba, a former army officer who fled during the night-time curfew, said that 400 residents were killed and tens of thousands of homes were damaged. Another 150,000 people were forced to leave their homes as the fighting continued.

The source pinned the blast on social media, saying that it did not prevent the spread of the virus and that more than 35 residents were found to be infected.

“Tens of thousands of residents and migrants have spent a third night in nowadays Jordanian capital

When they tried to make their way into the Makesh, Athens was turned to a踝 pawn at home. With a Novohack origin

In a statement, the interior ministry said it was preparing another request for legal assistance from Lebanon, where Nazar was held captive by the Hezbollah army for the last year.

AMMAN - A series of explosions have hit a key rebel-held area in northwest Syria, a monitor and state media reports said Thursday, in what was described as the worst single explosion in the country in a year.

The government said the explosions were caused by an electrical short, Petra News Agency reported citing Jordan’s military authorities.

Freddy Musamba, a former army officer who fled during the night-time curfew, said that 400 residents were killed and tens of thousands of homes were damaged. Another 150,000 people were forced to leave their homes as the fighting continued.

The source pinned the blast on social media, saying that it did not prevent the spread of the virus and that more than 35 residents were found to be infected.

“Tens of thousands of residents and migrants have spent a third night in nowadays Jordanian capital

When they tried to make their way into the Makesh, Athens was turned to a踝 pawn at home. With a Novohack origin

In a statement, the interior ministry said it was preparing another request for legal assistance from Lebanon, where Nazar was held captive by the Hezbollah army for the last year.

AMMAN - A series of explosions have hit a key rebel-held area in northwest Syria, a monitor and state media reports said Thursday, in what was described as the worst single explosion in the country in a year.

The government said the explosions were caused by an electrical short, Petra News Agency reported citing Jordan’s military authorities.

Freddy Musamba, a former army officer who fled during the night-time curfew, said that 400 residents were killed and tens of thousands of homes were damaged. Another 150,000 people were forced to leave their homes as the fighting continued.

The source pinned the blast on social media, saying that it did not prevent the spread of the virus and that more than 35 residents were found to be infected.

“Tens of thousands of residents and migrants have spent a third night in nowadays Jordanian capital

When they tried to make their way into the Makesh, Athens was turned to a踝 pawn at home. With a Novohack origin

In a statement, the interior ministry said it was preparing another request for legal assistance from Lebanon, where Nazar was held captive by the Hezbollah army for the last year.

AMMAN - A series of explosions have hit a key rebel-held area in northwest Syria, a monitor and state media reports said Thursday, in what was described as the worst single explosion in the country in a year.

The government said the explosions were caused by an electrical short, Petra News Agency reported citing Jordan’s military authorities.

Freddy Musamba, a former army officer who fled during the night-time curfew, said that 400 residents were killed and tens of thousands of homes were damaged. Another 150,000 people were forced to leave their homes as the fighting continued.

The source pinned the blast on social media, saying that it did not prevent the spread of the virus and that more than 35 residents were found to be infected.

“Tens of thousands of residents and migrants have spent a third night in nowadays Jordanian capital

When they tried to make their way into the Makesh, Athens was turned to a踝 pawn at home. With a Novohack origin

In a statement, the interior ministry said it was preparing another request for legal assistance from Lebanon, where Nazar was held captive by the Hezbollah army for the last year.
KABUL – Afghanistan’s 21-member Negotiating Team led by Abdullah Abdullah met Mazar-i-Sharif on Sunday, according to an official from the High Council for National Reconciliation.

KABUL Afghanistan’s Negotiating Team Heads to Doha for Talks

NADIR NADERY, a member of the team, said they will be held in Doha before the negotiations begin on Monday, according to an official from the High Council for National Reconciliation.

A short chat with reporters, Naderi, head of the High Council for National Reconciliation, said he remains hopeful but added that challenges should not be underestimated. Other high-ranking officials from Afghanistan who will attend the opening ceremony on Sunday in Doha are Afghanistan’s Foreign Minister Mohammad Ahmadstanzai, the State Minister for Peace Affairs Sayed Saadat Mansoor Naderi, and Mohammed Masood Marzouq, one of the negotiating team.

“We are looking forward to bilateral exchanges during the visit and engaging in substantive talks with the Taliban aimed at ending years of war and agony endured by our people,” Abdullah said in a tweet before his trip to Doha. “On the basis of regional interests and our shared interests, we will seek a just, durable and dignified resolution,” said Fasizia Koofi, a woman member of the negotiating team, said she thinks the process will be complicated but added that she remains hopeful.

“As far as the Afghan peace process is multi-dimensional and multiple dimensions of this war should be considered in the talks,” said Koofi. Another member of the team, Nader Naderi, said they head to Doha with the hope “to build an Afghan in which guns are silent, the republic values are strengthened, and Afghans have the belief they deserve development.”

Abdul Hafiz Mamour, a member of the negotiating team, said they will pass the message to the Taliban that they will net by power and that the opportunity has been provided to and to end talks. He says he remains hopeful for results of the talks.

The talks that were expected to begin back in March 10 days after… [More on P4/5]

KABUL – Afghanistan’s 21-member Negotiating Team led by Abdullah Abdullah met Mazar-i-Sharif on Sunday, according to an official from the High Council for National Reconciliation.

In a short chat with reporters, Naderi, head of the High Council for National Reconciliation, said he remains hopeful but added that challenges should not be underestimated. Other high-ranking officials from Afghanistan who will attend the opening ceremony on Sunday in Doha are Afghanistan’s Foreign Minister Mohammad Ahmadstanzai, the State Minister for Peace Affairs Sayed Saadat Mansoor Naderi, and Mohammed Masood Marzouq, one of the negotiating team.

“We are looking forward to bilateral exchanges during the visit and engaging in substantive talks with the Taliban aimed at ending years of war and agony endured by our people,” Abdullah said in a tweet before his trip to Doha. “On the basis of regional interests and our shared interests, we will seek a just, durable and dignified resolution,” said Fasizia Koofi, a woman member of the negotiating team, said she thinks the process will be complicated but added that she remains hopeful.

“As far as the Afghan peace process is multi-dimensional and multiple dimensions of this war should be considered in the talks,” said Koofi. Another member of the team, Nader Naderi, said they head to Doha with the hope “to build an Afghan in which guns are silent, the republic values are strengthened, and Afghans have the belief they deserve development.”

Abdul Hafiz Mamour, a member of the negotiating team, said they will pass the message to the Taliban that they will net by power and that the opportunity has been provided to and to end talks. He says he remains hopeful for results of the talks.

The talks that were expected to begin back in March 10 days after… [More on P4/5]