The facts and figures reveal that the security situation in Afghanistan is not getting better. With each passing day, there are new security threats, and the future of the region seems uncertain. Peace seems to be far away; there are no clear indications of this ambition being transformed to reality.

A recent survey conducted by TOLO news clearly depicts that the security threats have increased by 13 percent in August as compared to July. Taliban terror and anti-terror exercise were recorded in 51 districts of the country with 15 percent of the events similar to the events that were recorded during July. NSIF recorded the military air strike on 29 August and launched 866 military operations which show a 26 percent increase in the operations, which is a worrying sign.

National Security Forces (NSIF) was created a serious problem to the armed opposition the NSIF launched 48 local commanders and 1,940 others were wounded. However, NSIF also suffered losses in August. 596 soldiers were wounded which shows a 23 percent increase in NSIF losses.

In addition, there are also reports of different districts in different parts of the country falling to Taliban. The advances of Taliban in different parts of the country have reached to new levels during the year. The results of war against terrorism have shown that the pace and tranquility that had been promised in the beginning of the war are far from being achieved; neither the Taliban’s terrorism has been eradicated. President Obama while addressing a vari- ety of national security issues during his visit to the United States has talked about the war against terrorism. He said that the United States was committed to Afghan security forces and the strengthening terrorist networks the feared were controllable and ever increasing difficulties. It is really difficult to build a sustainable peace in Afghanistan. Moreover, the regional dissatisfaction and ambiguities are also increasing the war. Afghanistan’s neighboring countries do not see eye to eye with the US authorities regarding the war and its prospects and their relations with Afghanistan face fluctuations time and again. Keeping in mind the present situation of the region and the cone, it can be said that if the war is not to be termed as ‘unnecessary’ and ‘evil’, it is still has to be maintained. If new leaders come to power, there is a serious risk of stalling the war by the Afghan government.

On the other hand, the Taliban has not shown readiness for the peace process. The Taliban leaders have not shown any signs of readiness for the peace process. Ukraine’s economic sanctions have been unprecedentedly targeted towards the Taliban. The Taliban leaders have not been able to turn towards peace because of their internal infighting, which is a major obstacle for the peace process.

Moreover, the regional dissatisfaction and ambiguities are also increasing the war. Afghanistan’s neighboring countries do not see eye to eye with the US authorities regarding the war and its prospects and their relations with Afghanistan face fluctuations time and again. Keeping in mind the present situation of the region and the cone, it can be said that if the war is not to be termed as ‘unnecessary’ and ‘evil’, it is still has to be maintained. If new leaders come to power, there is a serious risk of stalling the war by the Afghan government.

On the other hand, the Taliban has not shown readiness for the peace process. The Taliban leaders have not shown any signs of readiness for the peace process. Ukraine’s economic sanctions have been unprecedentedly targeted towards the Taliban. The Taliban leaders have not been able to turn towards peace because of their internal infighting, which is a major obstacle for the peace process.

Moreover, the regional dissatisfaction and ambiguities are also increasing the war. Afghanistan’s neighboring countries do not see eye to eye with the US authorities regarding the war and its prospects and their relations with Afghanistan face fluctuations time and again. Keeping in mind the present situation of the region and the cone, it can be said that if the war is not to be termed as ‘unnecessary’ and ‘evil’, it is still has to be maintained. If new leaders come to power, there is a serious risk of stalling the war by the Afghan government.

The real purpose of a democratic system is to reach to the common people of the country and provide them facilities on their door steps. Further, such a democratic system in our country has not been able to represent the problems of the people or the nation. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact. The political system, which is made up of the people, should be given to the people, who can provide better representation to all the ethnic groups in the country and can favor the general will but such a system has not been able to be represented in the system that has been trying to keep the central government intact.