Kabul Hails UN Support for Election

KARUL - The government on Monday welcomed UNAMA's support for this month's presidential election. UNAMA has urged the poll panels, civil society, candidates, and other stakeholders to redouble their efforts before polls opened.

An emphatic message from delegates at last week's UN Security Council session was that the international community fully supports presidential elections taking place on 28 September, said Tadamichi Yamamoto, the secretary-general's special representative.

In response, President Ashraf Ghani's spokesman Sediq Seddiq tweeted: "The Afghan govt. welcomes UNAMA's support for the upcoming election." He wrote the government, as an endorsement . . . (More on P4)...(3)

Aga Khan Awards $1 Million to Six Architectural Projects

KARUL - Six prizes totaling $1 million were awarded for architectural projects by the Aga Khan Development Network (AKDN), all chosen with the theme of "dialogue." The Aga Khan, who spoke at the recent award ceremony in Kazan, Russia, stated that "committed people can make the world's things in the world cannot be seen or things in the world cannot be seen or... (More on P4)...(3)

Kay said the aim of his trip to Balkh was to show that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

We will stay in Afghanistan until we need to. (Pajhwok)

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.

"Afghans do not want to experience that the Taliban would never achieve a difficult situation and their decision to solve the Afghan conflict would be finally achieved with peace and political settlement. Kay said.