United Nations - The 74th Session of the General Assembly opens on Tuesday and is attended by 193 members of the United Nations. Premier Vladimir Putin is among the heads of state expected to visit in January next year to commemorate the 70th anniversary of World War II victims in Jerusalem.

Pakistan - Prime Minister Imran Khan has announced that a Pakistan-China Joint Committee would be established to mark the centenary of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

Abu Dhabi - King Salman of Saudi Arabia has arrived in the UAE to perform Umrah and attend the 70th anniversary of the founding of the United Arab Emirates.

Cuba - The Cuban flag was raised for the first time in the South Sudanese capital of Juba on Tuesday, as part of the celebrations marking the 63rd anniversary of Independence Day.

Russia - The Russian Foreign Ministry has called on the international community to impose sanctions on the Sudanese government for its alleged violation of human rights.

United Nations - The United Nations General Assembly is scheduled to open on Tuesday, with world leaders expected to address the body on a range of issues, including climate change, poverty, peace and security.

King Salman of Saudi Arabia has arrived in the UAE to perform Umrah and attend the 70th anniversary of the founding of the United Arab Emirates.

Azerbaijan, Kazakhstan - President Ilham Aliyev and Prime Minister Mazahir Salamatov met on Tuesday to discuss bilateral relations and regional issues, including security and energy.

North Korea - The United Nations Security Council is meeting to discuss the situation in the Korean peninsula.

Canada - A local Indigenous group has launched a legal challenge against a proposed mine in British Columbia, saying it would violate their treaty rights.

Azerbaijan - President Ilham Aliyev has appointed Mazahir Salamatov as the new Prime Minister of Azerbaijan.

Korea Atomic Energy Research Institute becomes International Centre Under IAEA Label

The Korea Atomic Energy Research Institute (KAERI) has been designated as an International Centre under the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) label.

China: Deputy PM urges support for Hong Kong

Beijing - China's central government has called on the international community to support Hong Kong after a wave of protests and violent clashes.

Merkel Urges Return to Iran Nuclear Deal to Defuse Middle East Tensions

Berlin - Chancellor Angela Merkel has called for a return to the Iran nuclear deal, describing it as the only way to defuse tensions in the Middle East.

Two-thirds of German companies 'largely' implement new data protection regulation

Berlin - Two-thirds of German companies have 'largely' implemented the new EU data protection regulation, according to a new survey.

OSCE-Supported Workshop: Explored Links Between Research and Policy-Making in Central Asia

Shymkent - The OSCE-supported workshop on international migration management in Central Asia focused on the challenges and opportunities of migration and remittances in the region.

Turkmen Power Stations Using GE Technology

Ashgabat - The Turkmen State Energy Corporation has announced that it will start using GE Technology for the construction of new power stations.

URP's Plans to Put Volunteer in Japan in 2020

Russia - The United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) has announced plans to send a volunteer to Japan in 2020 to support the government's efforts to combat the aging population.

Neighbor News

Govt Commissioned to Protect Life, Property of Minors, Tschokhi

SIBARAD - The government has established a commission to protect the life and property of minors, with a focus on issues such as poverty, education and employment.

Azerbaijan's Espinosa, for her services to the multilateral organization.

For her part, Espinosa referred to the need for a gender equality agenda, as well as the revitalization of the General Assembly.

According to the Nogotiano, during the meeting on these topics: poverty eradication, quality education and inclusion. He also pledged to make further progress on gender parity.

The 62-year-old African leader became the second individual to take up this post, after Joseph Naméke of Gabon, who hosted the General Assembly in 1989. Yevmeny-Ivanov, President of Ukraine, will host the Assembly in 2020.

He expressed the confidence that the Fourth General Conference of the Nogotiano Assembly will meet the expectations of all member states.

The ICIEC scheme is designed to foster international cooperation and contribution to capacity-building across world class research reactors and as facilitating facilities, said Cornet Fernia, Acting Director General of the IAEA. "Member States and institutions work closely in parallel with IAEA to deliver services as well as improve technical cooperation in the area of nuclear energy.

Russia is paying a "high price" for energy imports from Iran, according to Deputy Prime Minister and Energy Minister Alexander Novak.

"In recent days tensions have once again increased in the region, as Germany will always be in favor of desescalation and long-term solutions, which are only possible through a political process, rather than military actions," the German official said.

"There is still a great deal of uncertainty in the field of data protection and new trends, such as the General Data Protection Regulation, could affect businesses in the region," the survey found.

The regulation, which came into effect in May 2018 across Europe, was designed to secure the individual data protection rights of EU member states and guarantee free movement of data in the Schengen Area. According to Bilfinger, the lack of an agreed region-wide specialist body in the field and the fact that most of the countries had no central data protection body were among the main challenges in implementing the regulation.

In addition to two-thirds of German companies committed about legal uncertainties and difficulties in as implementing the implementation process.

Almost all German companies (98 per cent) stated that the introduction of documentation duties and information obligations resulted in high costs, a ... (More on P4)...(9)

Shaun Tanna, for her services to the multilateral organization.

"That is why Iranian officials, alongside the president, the foreign minister and others have called on the international community to voice their opposition to these events," Tanna said.

"I would like to say that we cannot change the situation in Syria," she explained. "But there is also a long-term solution to this problem, which is the reconstruction of the country after the war."

"But there is also a long list of other burdens coming from Iran like the ballistic missiles program and its engagement in Syria," she said. "In recent days tensions have once again increased in the region, as Germany will always be in favor of desescalation and long-term solutions, which are only possible through a political process, rather than military actions," the German official said.

"There is still a great deal of uncertainty in the field of data protection and new trends, such as the General Data Protection Regulation, could affect businesses in the region," the survey found.

The regulation, which came into effect in May 2018 across Europe, was designed to secure the individual data protection rights of EU member states and guarantee free movement of data in the Schengen Area. According to Bilfinger, the lack of an agreed region-wide specialist body in the field and the fact that most of the countries had no central data protection body were among the main challenges in implementing the regulation.

In addition to two-thirds of German companies committed about legal uncertainties and difficulties in as implementing the implementation process.

Almost all German companies (98 per cent) stated that the introduction of documentation duties and information obligations resulted in high costs, a ... (More on P4)...(9)

Shaun Tanna, for her services to the multilateral organization.

"That is why Iranian officials, alongside the president, the foreign minister and others have called on the international community to voice their opposition to these events," Tanna said.

"I would like to say that we cannot change the situation in Syria," she explained. "But there is also a long-term solution to this problem, which is the reconstruction of the country after the war."

"But there is also a long list of other burdens coming from Iran like the ballistic missiles program and its engagement in Syria," she said. "In recent days tensions have once again increased in the region, as Germany will always be in favor of desescalation and long-term solutions, which are only possible through a political process, rather than military actions," the German official said.

"There is still a great deal of uncertainty in the field of data protection and new trends, such as the General Data Protection Regulation, could affect businesses in the region," the survey found.

The regulation, which came into effect in May 2018 across Europe, was designed to secure the individual data protection rights of EU member states and guarantee free movement of data in the Schengen Area. According to Bilfinger, the lack of an agreed region-wide specialist body in the field and the fact that most of the countries had no central data protection body were among the main challenges in implementing the regulation.

In addition to two-thirds of German companies committed about legal uncertainties and difficulties in as implementing the implementation process.

Almost all German companies (98 per cent) stated that the introduction of documentation duties and information obligations resulted in high costs, a ... (More on P4)...(9)

Shaun Tanna, for her services to the multilateral organization.