Calls Grow for A Ceasefire on International Day of Peace

DOHA - Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister Mohammad Asadullah Khalid on Thursday said that the international community has been very silent regarding the challenge of the Afghan government and its people after 20 years of war.

He said that the Afghan government has faced a lot of challenges over the past 20 years, and that the international community has not helped.

Khalid said that the Afghan government has been working hard to bring peace to the country, but that the international community has been silent.

DOHA - Eight days after the opening ceremony of the 2022 FIFA World Cup, a number of factors from both sides are seeking an agreement on three of over 20 articles on rules and regulations for the peace talks in Doha. Both the Afghan government and the Taliban teams formed small groups called “contact groups” in the opening day of the talks on September 12. The contact groups have held five meetings so far to discuss rules and regulations as well as the agenda of the negotiations. The negotiations of the two sides initially had 23 articles. It has been reduced to 20 articles after more meetings of the contact groups, and it will be further reduced today. Their adjustment is over three issues. The name given to the three, the religious legal system chosen for the negotiations, and the Taliban’s demand to include the US-Taliban agreement as the basis for the negotiations of the talks, according to The Times newspaper’s Kari Amin. The Taliban’s new regulations are underway on the rules and regulations as well as the disputed points. What we hope to finalize is as soon as possible,” said Fransisco Khawoose, the spokesman for the High Council for National Reconciliation. Information provided by sources from the two teams indicates that the Taliban is insisting on the war being called “jihad” and that the High Council for National Reconciliation is the religious basis for decisions. The Taliban also has shown its opposition to mentioning war when it comes to decisions that has a religious basis. According to article 131 of the Constitution, the courts shall apply the Shari’a jurisprudence in making decisions involving personal matters of followers of the Shia sect in accordance with the law. In the law, no other basis exists in the Constitution than to resolve issues of personal status. We identified each other in the last 20 years of our divergences and within Afghanistan and we... Anti-Terror Strategy of US in Afghanistan

By: Dr. Rajakum Singh

The terrorist attacks of 9/11 were the result of a catastrophic intelligence and law enforcement failure for which different approaches to the situation were linked. In response, the George William Bush Administration launched not one but two major wars, the first in Afghanistan and the second in Iraq. But the war on Afghanistan did not reduce violence, and agreed to provide help to Washington in such key areas as intelligence sharing. The Taliban were not fighting for freedom, and agreed to provide help to Washington in such key areas as intelligence sharing. SC stays compulsory action for child sex abuse case

ISLAMABAD: The government has signed extradition treaties with the United Kingdom and the United States. The Supreme Court on Monday stayed the processing of a request for the extradition of a suspect accused of raping a minor in a TV studio. The court said that the request for extradition was filed in a cursory manner. The petitioner, Idrees Ahmed, claimed that the suspect, who is a resident of the United Kingdom, has been living in the United States for a long time. The court directed the petitioner to file an application for the production of the suspect in the United States. The petitioner, a lawyer, has been given 15 days to file the application.

Mothers-to-be face fierce challenges in Venezuela

VENICE: Mothers-to-be who are enrolled in the medical system in Venezuela have faced fierce challenges in recent years. According to a report by the United Nations, more than 60% of pregnant women in Venezuela have faced difficulties in accessing healthcare due to the country’s economic crisis. The report states that many pregnant women have had to rely on the informal sector for healthcare, which has led to an increase in maternal mortality rates. The report also highlights the lack of access to essential medicines and medical supplies, which has resulted in a significant increase in neonatal deaths.

Venezuela: India adds 87K new infections, over 60% of active cases are concentrated in five states

NEW DELHI: India recorded nearly 87,000 new coronavirus infections in the past 24 hours, taking the total to more than 103 million. The number of active cases in the country has increased to over 60% of the total cases, making it the second-highest country after the United States. The government has announced that it will implement a nationwide lockdown to contain the spread of the virus. The lockdown will be in place for two weeks, starting from Monday.

KABUL - The (HCNR) statement added, "...casualty numbers, a key indicator of conflict's mortality, are at a lower level than in recent years. But UNAMA preliminary findings show as many as 20 civilians killed and 39 injured--including women, boys and girls--in four separate incidents."

"Hundreds of Factories Collapse in Afghanistan"

KABUL - The United Nations Assistance Mission for Afghanistan (UNAMA) on its twitter handle wrote: "As we celebrate International Peace Day, a reminder of the full war is taking on Afghanistan's civilians. We're concerned by high numbers of civilian casualties and call on all parties to take immediate measures to protect them, and create conducive atmosphere for 4th peace talks." The mission said "civilian casualties numbers, a key indicator of conflict's mortality, are at a lower level than in recent years. But UNAMA preliminary findings show as many as 20 civilians killed and 39 injured--including women, boys and girls--in four separate incidents."

"...4th peace talks will be very sharp. But, you know, it's been 19 years, and even they are not agreeing, in all honesty."

Trump also pointed to the peace negotiations with the Taliban, saying the US is "very, very strong" with the Taliban, and added "They should be talking to the Taliban, as you probably heard."

"The United Nations Assistance Mission for Afghanistan (UNAMA) has confirmed that 108,756 samples have been tested in government laboratories so far."
