Afgans will celebrate democracy through blocking to ballot boxes to elect their president. Their participation in political activities is a prerequisite to their participation in decision-making. Although the Taliban leadership may not approve of the Islamic Emirate, put on the negotiating table by the Taliban leadership.

Afghans have paid heavy sacrifices for supporting democratic principles and having their rights and freedoms safeguarded. Despite sustaining heavy sacrifices, Afghans and women have backed the Afghan democratic administration and participated in parliamentary elections to show that democracy is the only option that can ensure the public rights.

In spite of the fact that Afghans have won the public not to participate in the upcoming presidential elections and intensified their attacks against civilians to fill the air with fear, Afghans are determined to participate in the elections. That is, the Taliban are unlikely to achieve their goal of setting aside the elections for Afghans.

Within the past 18 years, Afghans’ political maturity has grown to a great extent and they have voiced their concern regarding political injustice. Even Afghan ordinary people are mentally engaged with the issue of elections and their representatives in the talks. In the Loya Jirga held in April, Afgans sent their representatives to call on the Taliban to reduce violence and held direct talks with the Taliban. Afgans have already turned down by the Taliban group.

Still, Afgans hold out their hope that forming “a civil society void of oppression, atrocity, discrimination as well as violence, based on rule of law, social justice, protecting integrity and human rights, and attaining peoples’ freedoms and fundamental rights”, strengthening political, social, economic as well as defense institutions, and attaining a prosperous life and sound living environment for all inhabitants of this land, which are stated in the preamble of Afghan constitution, will be achieved only through democratic principles and participating in elections.

However, the public concern is lack of transparency in the elections, not to mention security issue. Since the past elections, including 2014 presidential elections, were rigged, Afgans have lost their trust in officials. They worry that the candidates will seek to rig the elections.

The next president has a heavy burden on his shoulder and has to face many challenges to make decisions about the level of security. He has to rely on the international aid organization, especially the US, for the security.

The last president has been called to preside over the Afghan administration and has even made some progress in bringing for security in bringing and pushing for peace talks, campaigning against the Taliban and having some progress in running the government.

This could be the president to exploit Afghanistan’s mineral resources in the best possible way, promote the country’s trade level, and connect it with the entire region. Based on Chinese saying that if you want to bring about a prosperous country, you should first build a prosperous people. The country will still suffer a result of instability, untimely poverty, corruption in judicial system and other government organs, lack of democracy and rule of law.

The next president has a heavy burden on his shoulder and has to face many challenges to make decisions about the level of security. He has to rely on the international aid organization, especially the US, for the security.

The last president has been called to preside over the Afghan administration and has even made some progress in bringing for security in bringing and pushing for peace talks, campaigning against the Taliban and having some progress in running the government.

This could be the president to exploit Afghanistan’s mineral resources in the best possible way, promote the country’s trade level, and connect it with the entire region. Based on Chinese saying that if you want to bring about a prosperous country, you should first build a prosperous people. The country will still suffer a result of instability, untimely poverty, corruption in judicial system and other government organs, lack of democracy and rule of law.

The next president has a heavy burden on his shoulder and has to face many challenges to make decisions about the level of security. He has to rely on the international aid organization, especially the US, for the security.

The last president has been called to preside over the Afghan administration and has even made some progress in bringing for security in bringing and pushing for peace talks, campaigning against the Taliban and having some progress in running the government.

This could be the president to exploit Afghanistan’s mineral resources in the best possible way, promote the country’s trade level, and connect it with the entire region. Based on Chinese saying that if you want to bring about a prosperous country, you should first build a prosperous people. The country will still suffer a result of instability, untimely poverty, corruption in judicial system and other government organs, lack of democracy and rule of law.

The next president has a heavy burden on his shoulder and has to face many challenges to make decisions about the level of security. He has to rely on the international aid organization, especially the US, for the security.

The last president has been called to preside over the Afghan administration and has even made some progress in bringing for security in bringing and pushing for peace talks, campaigning against the Taliban and having some progress in running the government.

This could be the president to exploit Afghanistan’s mineral resources in the best possible way, promote the country’s trade level, and connect it with the entire region. Based on Chinese saying that if you want to bring about a prosperous country, you should first build a prosperous people. The country will still suffer a result of instability, untimely poverty, corruption in judicial system and other government organs, lack of democracy and rule of law.

The next president has a heavy burden on his shoulder and has to face many challenges to make decisions about the level of security. He has to rely on the international aid organization, especially the US, for the security.

The last president has been called to preside over the Afghan administration and has even made some progress in bringing for security in bringing and pushing for peace talks, campaigning against the Taliban and having some progress in running the government.

This could be the president to exploit Afghanistan’s mineral resources in the best possible way, promote the country’s trade level, and connect it with the entire region. Based on Chinese saying that if you want to bring about a prosperous country, you should first build a prosperous people. The country will still suffer a result of instability, untimely poverty, corruption in judicial system and other government organs, lack of democracy and rule of law.

The next president has a heavy burden on his shoulder and has to face many challenges to make decisions about the level of security. He has to rely on the international aid organization, especially the US, for the security.

The last president has been called to preside over the Afghan administration and has even made some progress in bringing for security in bringing and pushing for peace talks, campaigning against the Taliban and having some progress in running the government.

This could be the president to exploit Afghanistan’s mineral resources in the best possible way, promote the country’s trade level, and connect it with the entire region. Based on Chinese saying that if you want to bring about a prosperous country, you should first build a prosperous people. The country will still suffer a result of instability, untimely poverty, corruption in judicial system and other government organs, lack of democracy and rule of law.

The next president has a heavy burden on his shoulder and has to face many challenges to make decisions about the level of security. He has to rely on the international aid organization, especially the US, for the security.

The last president has been called to preside over the Afghan administration and has even made some progress in bringing for security in bringing and pushing for peace talks, campaigning against the Taliban and having some progress in running the government.

This could be the president to exploit Afghanistan’s mineral resources in the best possible way, promote the country’s trade level, and connect it with the entire region. Based on Chinese saying that if you want to bring about a prosperous country, you should first build a prosperous people. The country will still suffer a result of instability, untimely poverty, corruption in judicial system and other government organs, lack of democracy and rule of law.