Aghanistan is one of the countries that is blessed with mineral resources and historical monuments. However, it has not been able to benefit much from both of them. The historical and cultural sites and monuments have not been preserved well and there are serious concerns about them as the instability, terrorism and government negligence seem to be on the rise.

Bamyan is one of the provinces in Afghanistan that is known worldwide for historic Buddha statues that were believed to be carved out thousands of years ago. However, the people of Afghanistan have not been very much concerned about them. Recently cultural activities in the province have voiced out their concerns that the historic sites are in dilapidated condition and government authorities are negligent about their protection and maintenance. The local people's proper attention is paid, the sites may extinct.

All these activities and events claim that heavy rates, natural disasters and the lack of maintenance and care has caused damages to historic sites in the province and the sites lose the danger of extinction. He concluded in his statement, "There are 29 caves exist is registered with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), but half a decade to keep their household animals in the caves.

Moreover, to make things worse the local officials claim that the number of tourists declined in recent years due to growing insecurity in Bamyan and neighboring provinces. It is unfortunate to note that the government's response in this regard is truly disappointing.

The government authorities fail to understand that the initiatives to safeguard Afghanistan's cultural and historical heritage are really important for the lasting of national splendor to the members of Afghan society, which at the moment are non-existent. The cultural heritage and historical treasures can play a tremendous role in uplifting national sentiments. However, it is also a fact that many fine cultural works and clades have had severe impacts on Afghanistan's socio-political scenario.

These wars and clashes have influenced the country in so many different ways. There have been losses only in life and blood but in culture, tradition and values, as well. It is believed that for a civilization to flourish, it is necessary that there should be peace, tranquility and stability. Unfortunately Afghanistan has suffered in this regard. Though, Afghanistan has been recorded as the country that has the most efforts to revitalize the Afghan society after the downfall of Taliban, is still not in the position to achieve its full capacity.

It is necessary, at the present scenario, that Afghanistan must have a secured and well-coordinated environment, otherwise the wealth of the nation will be a problem. It is true that they have to preserve the traces and remains of their rich history that should help the new generation realize the worth of their history and knowledge of their violent and rich civilization flourished on their land.

Moreover, for the security of the nation and the success of the scholarly mission they have to preserve the traces and remains of their rich history that should help the new generation realize the worth of their history and knowledge of their violent and rich civilization flourished on their land.

Unfortunately wars and civil strife have affected the laborious work of Afghan scholars and the national and international community functional to collaborate efforts to revitalize the Afghan society.

It is in the context of the above themes that the conference was held. Afghanistan has always been a cornerstone of Pakistan's foreign policy. Hence, Pakistan officials consistently remarked peace talks and political solutions were the only viable option for the country. But the Afghan officials always remained on their stance - which never came to fruition and brought no changes to Taliban's strategy towards the country.

The US government and the Afghan government have been in peace deal with Hezb- Islami Afghanistan (HIA) led by Gulbadin Hekmatyar – which turned out to be a mixed blessing for the country. A large number of people, including political pundits, express pessimistic opinions about the issue and believe that the peace deal with HIA will not mitigate the insurgency and Hekmatyar does not carry any political weight to dictate the political terms to the Taliban fighters. The ceasefire is replete with hateful rhetoric that puts the future of the military operation and security of its fighters leading to heavy casualties. Human Rights Watch reports about the same.

Pakistan’s policy against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against regional and international countries. There is a need to develop sound policies against international countries.